

04/06/2011

Kirkland Productions
Attn: Tammy Lynn
8807 Lavalley Lane
Dallas TX 75243

Dear Tammy,

Complicated Courtesies! was a wonderful night in the theatre. I was intrigued, starting with just the title. My mind was already working before Kimberly Dark arrived on stage. What was so complicated about common courtesies? I was already doing my own scenario building just sitting in my seat. But then the journey began and I really did learn just how complicated courtesies can be. Kimberly Dark is a superior storyteller. She drew me in, slowly and expertly, to a world of stares and glares, furtive glances and comments, joy and pain. The slow reveal of her own personal story of parenting, loving, partnering and standing up for what she believes in spoke to everyone in the audience. She has the rare ability to make the personal universal. Kimberly expertly blends teaching with entertaining and takes the audience into her story circle where we are welcomed and challenged!

Sincerely,

William J. Doan, PhD
Associate Dean Administration, Research and Graduate Studies
Professor of Theatre
The College of Arts and Architecture
Penn State University
102 Borland Building
814-863-7589
President-Elect, ATHE