

Gina,

Last night's debate between Glenn and John went wonderfully. Our turn out was just under what we were shooting for; 363 attendees is the official count. Our audience really enjoyed what Glenn and John had to say, and were very engaged during the question and answer session. My only concern about the program was that the question and answer session ran longer than it probably should have, which the guys tried to control with "lightning-round" questions. However, questions on such a subject cannot typically be answered with short succinct replies, so that portion of the program lasted about an hour. The program wasn't too long, but many people did leave early.

Both Glenn and John are very made intelligent and interesting points for their sides of the argument, as I knew they would. It was a pleasure having them.

Sincerely,

Courtney Current
Missouri State University
Student Activities Council
Lectures Chair