

April 18, 2008

Gina Kirkland
Kirkland Productions
8770 Aidwick Drive
Dallas, TX 75238

Dear Ms. Kirkland,

I wanted to let you know how very much we enjoyed the University of Dayton production of "You the Man." The play was performed for our Greek 101 Community during Women's History Month (March) as a way to raise awareness and begin discussion of relationship violence.

Greek 101 is a mandatory orientation process for Greek pledges that runs for about 12 weeks. There are about 300 pledges in attendance. Of that number we usually get about a third evaluations back and this year they were 96% positive. So we will be looking to bring "You the Man" to our campus again.

Like your production of "The Thin Line" this play covers a topic important to most campus climates. Undergraduate students relate well to the characterizations portrayed in the play and students' walked away with a wealth of information on how to find local resources as well as how to confront friends' behavior.

We will be bringing "You the Man to campus again and would recommend it to others.

Sincerely,

Pattie Waugh
Women's Center
University of Dayton
300 College Park
Dayton, OH 45469-0322